Dan Patrick Files Campaign Finance Report
Raises total cash on hand to $2 million despite focus on special session

HOUSTON – Sen. Dan Patrick announced today he had raised nearly $100,000 in 72 hours after joining the race on June 27th. This increased his total cash-on-hand to $2.1 million. Despite his late entry into the campaign, focusing the bulk of his time since his June 27th campaign announcement on the special session and passing pro-life legislation, the cash-on-hand figure keeps the campaign on target to meet its budget.

“I am humbled by the support my campaign has generated among Texans since announcing for Lieutenant Governor on June 27th, though my primary focus in the last few weeks has been on the special session and passing important pro-life legislation,” said Patrick.

“I look forward to hitting the campaign trail hard in the days ahead. Texans are ready for a change in leadership and it’s time for an authentic conservative who will lead,” said Patrick.
