CULLEN CRISP ANNOUNCES RUN FOR HOUSE DISTRICT 60

Cullen Crisp, Hood County small businessman and farmer, today announced his intention to seek the Republican nomination for Texas House District 60. Cullen filed for office today, hoping to restore the conservative representation the eight counties in District 60 seek in Austin.

After filing, Crisp stated, "I'm excited to begin our campaign, having consulted with family, neighbors, and friends about taking on this task. I want to take my experience as a farmer, small businessman, and Christian conservative to Austin. Texans need new leadership, from public servants concerned about our children's future and reducing government bureaucracy, not protecting their own bottom line."

Cullen and his family run a farm in Granbury, where they grow strawberries, peaches, and harvest honey. Cullen is also owner of Crisp-LaDew Fire Protection, which specializes in fire sprinkler and fire alarm systems. Cullen is very active in the District 60 community, founding the Texas Heroes Foundation, and are currently planning the 3rd Annual Texas Independence Day Celebration. Cullen currently is a member of the Lake Granbury Coalition, on the board of Hood County Development District 1, and played an integral part of the development of Acton Nature Center near Granbury.

"Conservatives are eager to change the way business is done in Austin," commented Cullen. "Too often Representatives pick up the spending and back room dealing habits of Washington D.C. Being a public servant means representing the values of the people who sent you to Austin, not engaging in the political games that divide both our state and the nation."

The Crisp family are committed Christians. Cullen is married to his beautiful wife, Ashley, and together they have two children, Carson and Maddie.
