GLENN CALLISON KICKS OFF CAMPAIGN AND FILES FOR TEXAS HOUSE

Twenty-five year Plano resident, life-long conservative and civic leader, Glenn Callison, kicked off his campaign this weekend and filed with the Collin County Republican Party as a candidate for Texas House of Representatives, House District 66.

“Because we need a common sense, conservative voice in Austin, I am asking for your vote to be your next Texas State Representative,” Callison told hundreds of supporters at a Sunday kick-off event. “We need strong and experienced leaders in Austin to assure that our area continues to create jobs and enhance the exceptional quality of life, while observing fiscally conservative policies to keep taxes low.”

Texas House District 66 covers southwestern Collin County and includes West Plano and parts of North Dallas and a small part of Carrollton

Callison holds both law and business degrees from Baylor University. He serves as CEO of Munsch Hardt Kopf and Harr, a major Texas commercial law firm. Callison and his wife Jean, a former Plano City Councilwoman, have two children who both attended Plano ISD for all twelve grades.

“As a longtime resident, I recognize both the strengths of and challenges facing our community. I am committed to solving problems to ensure North Texas remains a great place to live and work,” he said. Businessman and longtime Plano resident, Bobby Ray, will serve as Callison’s Campaign Treasurer.

Glenn Callison has repeatedly demonstrated servant leadership. He was Chairman of both the Baylor Regional Medical Center at Plano and Heart Hospital of Baylor Plano boards. He has served on the boards of the Plano Education Foundation, Plano Family YMCA and the Plano Symphony Orchestra. He is a Deacon at Parkway Hills Baptist Church and is a past Bible study leader in the Church’s youth group.
